The Mysterious & Mischievous Lake Come-N-Go

Those of us who were here opening weekend were lucky enough to witness the spontaneous appearance of Lake Come-N-Go. Between the downpour on Friday night, and the already soggy conditions in the campground, it made for just the right circumstances to show up.

Many people marvel at the wonder of Lake Come-N-Go. Its is currently unknown when the lake began spontaneously appearing. However, when asked about is recent appearance, Ed Dionne noted the reason it happens is because the plain is connected to Mud Creek via a drain tile system. When the Mud Creek is high, the excess water has no where to drain to.

Tile drainage is a form of agricultural drainage system that removes excess sub-surface water from fields to allow sufficient air space within the soil, proper cultivation, and access . While surface water can be drained by pumping, open ditches, or both, tile drainage is often the most effective means of draining subsurface water.

Despite the lakes random and occasionally inconvenient appearances, most campers seem to make the most of it. Max, at site 66 ,recently took his kayak out for a row. The previous campers at site 58 had a slide attached to their deck which allowed the kids to slide down into the giant puddle.

Matt, site 1, recalled a story from many years ago. He and Ed borrowed a canoe and went boating through the makeshift lake. Ed made the mistake of pondering how high the water was so Matt decided they would find out. He promptly tipped the canoe and they both went into the water. The water was almost thigh high on the two men; putting the depth at a probable two feet.

Recipe of the Month

Easy Pasta Salad

Recipe courtesy of Melissa Schroeder, site 108

Ingredients

- 1 box multicolor Robin rotini pasta
- 1 package mini pepperoni
- 2 packs mini mozzarella balls
- 1 can black olives, drained
- 1/2 jar banana pepper rings, drained. Retain some liquid to add to salad.
- Cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1/2 red onion, sliced thin
- 1 bag fresh baby spinach
- 1 bottle Olive Garden Italian dressing
- Optional additions: chopped salami, green or red peppers, substitute 1 bottle Olive Garden Italian dressing for the low-fat version

Instructions

- Boil noodles until cooked al dente. Cool.
- Mix all ingredients (except spinach) together.
- Add a dash of the retained banana pepper juice.
- Refrigerate for at least an hour.
- Fold in spinach right before serving as it will get wilted.
